Horse Bites, Kicks, and Bruises Settle All Question as to Genealogy of Cavalrymen.

MAN ANTONIO, Oct. 16 (mail).-Murder will out. So will blue blood. For instance, Troop A, First Separate Cavelry, District militia, is famed for the ueness of the blood of its members Anyone having doubts as to whether or not their blood is really blue need go no farther than Capt. Herbert J. Bryson.

farther than Capt. Herbert J. Bryson, medical officer, detailed with the troop. For the past week Captain Bryson has come into indisputable evidence that their blood is blue. He has treated practically all the troopers for horse bites and kicks and bruises received as a result of being thrown repeatedly to the ground and dragged over the rough field. The troopers blood began to cose to the surface the first day they received their wild horses and, judging from the progress some of them are making, their blue blood will be near the surface for some time to come.

Private Rapley Stone, nephew of Harry Rapley, manager of the National Theater, is badly bunged up with bites, kicks, and stamp he received while trying to break into the horshoer's game. Private Stone and Private Blum never sheed a horse before in their lives and their experience is proving painful to them.

Has Half Dozen Bites. Private Joe Maloney exhibits half dozen bites on his chest and body, the result of his successful efforts to tame a "wild bronco," known as "Oscar Wilde." Sergeant Squiers, Private Wilde." Sergeant Squiers, Private James Wilson, son of the Secretary of the Department of Labor; Jesse Wilson, known as "Big Wilson;" Private, Murphy, Private Robert Pollock, and Private Royer are also shy hunks of flesh on their chest and limbs, while few of the troopers have escaped the distinction of being kicked a score or more times and made record breaking flights through the air for twenty or thirty feet.

Some of the horses are so vicious that Horseshoers Stone and Blum had to apply to the remount station for "stocks," four posts and a hammock, with which to raise the animals completely off the ground and render them helpiess while they are being shod.

Received Bad Deal. Privates G. F. O'Brien and J. D. Roberts are the joint possessors of another horse not assigned to them when the deck of cards was shuffled and cut and the wild animals doled out. Their steed is a "devil's horse," also known steed is a "devil's horse," also known as a "rear horse," and sometimes called "The Walking Stick." It is a long, slim insect which looks like a twig from a tree and has six legs, two of which are green. The insect stands about two feet high and is about eight inches long. When it was captured Privates Roberts and O'Brien tied a piece of thread around one of its legs and attached the thread to a heavy oak tent peg driven a foot into the ground. Half an hour later the insect was running amuck in the cavalry camp, and the joint owners say it chewed the oak tent peg in two and dragged half of it around behind it until captured.

and dragged hair of it around beams it until captured.

The troopers are mourning the loss of Private Paul Sharpe, one of their most popular members, who has been ordered detailed to Fort Sam Houston to help guard the prisoners of the Thirty-seventh Infantry confined there. It is understood the detail will continue one

The despondency of the weather-worn District militiamen promises to be short lived. Favorite Heard in His Latest Song "Now He's Got a Beautiful Girl."

Al Jolson, present in the flesh last week, is present in the voice today for those owning Columbia talking machines, for a new Columbia record is his latest song, "Now He's Got a Beautiful Girl.'

A group of records of a different type are those of Lazaro, acclaimed the greatest tenor since Rubini, who not only accomplishes the feat in musetting up exercises arranged for them by General Greene, commanding the Twelfth division, and scores of the boys are looking forward to the hikes, practice marches and target practice at Leon Springs and New Braunfels with pleasure and a relief from the life in Gamp. sical acrobatics of reaching high "D" natural with ease, but who sings with a feeling and power likely to make him popular with Columbia buyers. their fellow soldiers until the mouths of all of them watered and the possum was thrown into the oven to prove the glowing tales told about him and his kin.

For the first time since the District militia was ordered mobilized at Fort Myer, the Headquarters Company, commanded by Capt. Edwin W. Fullam, is now up to strength, so far as mounted orderlies are concerned. Captain Fullam has twenty dispatch bearers with horses, all of whom are required to wear red woolen bands on their arms to designate their rank.

Regimental Sergt. Maj. J. Douglas Hood and Battalion Sergt Majs. Victor Hugo Rogers and James Sullivan have also been given horses, and are required to turn out when the Third Regiment drills or parades. The horses given the sergeant majors are thin and bony, and are called "hatracks." The animals are quite tame, and the sergeant majors have no difficulty in riding them. sergeant majors have no difficulty in riding them.
Lieutenant Colonel Stephan says the horses brought here from Washington by the officers of the Third are turning up their noses at the army hay. For the first week they were fed on hay brought here from Virginia, and the equines seem to detect a difference in the flavor of that and the red linted hay which the army has stacked around the camp so as to form something like a spur of the Blue Ridge mountains.

remark of a woman of the neighborhood who came, on Christmas, bringing a card on which were the words. "I have come that ye might have life, and that ye might have it abundantly." As she gave the card to the headworker, she said, "This just suits; it's just what Friendship House is doing."

Many stories like this could be told to show the attitude of the people toward Friendship House. Many are giving out of their slender means, to help support the work.

Last year a group of women in the neighborhood formed a "Friendship House Circle" to raise funds for the house. They have worked hard and have already contributed a good sum. Friendship House is the recreation center of the neighborhood, and many groups of boys and girls are meeting there daily. In the evening every room is filled with the older boys and girls, having wholesome good times in a wholesome aumosphere.

Different Divisions.

Some groups will be found dancing others sewing, perhaps, others in a study class, each group under the di-rection of a leader. Last year there study class, each group under the direction of a leader. Last year there were about 375 girls and boys enrolled in the various clubs and classes, and about fifty women on the Women's Club. Many strong and helpful friendships have been formed between club members and their leaders. A long story could be told of a sadly handicapped, orphan boy whose club leader became so interested in him that she finally legally adopted him, and later, the other three children of the family as well.

The Mothers' Club is another important group. Because of the limited space, the number has heretofore been limited to about twenty. Of these, nine have been members of the club ever since its organization, about seven years ago.

The club is educational as well as social. Many talks are given throughout the year on subjects of interest to the mothers by competent speakers.

The authorities at Friendship House take pride in telling about the frequency with which mothers of children in the neighborhood of the settlement come to them for confidential advice about the disciplining and rearing of their children. The help is always given with the greatest pleasure by the Friend-

Although a little disappointed over the results of their campaign to raise $5.000 to meet the demands of their annual budget, the workers at Friendship House and the members of the House Association are still optimistic, and are hopeful that the last two days of their efforts will be generously rewarded by contributions from Washingtonians who have not yet joined the ranks of those who are helping Friendship House to carry on their work.
